

JAPAN'S BULLET TRAIN

In America the idea of a high speed train is still a dream on the drawing board. In Japan it's a reality.

Japanese "Bullet Trains" average 103 miles per hour on the 342 mile run from Tokyo to Osaka. In straight stretches they cruise along at speeds as high as 130 miles per hour. As scheduling and track beds are improved, the average speed of the run is still rising.

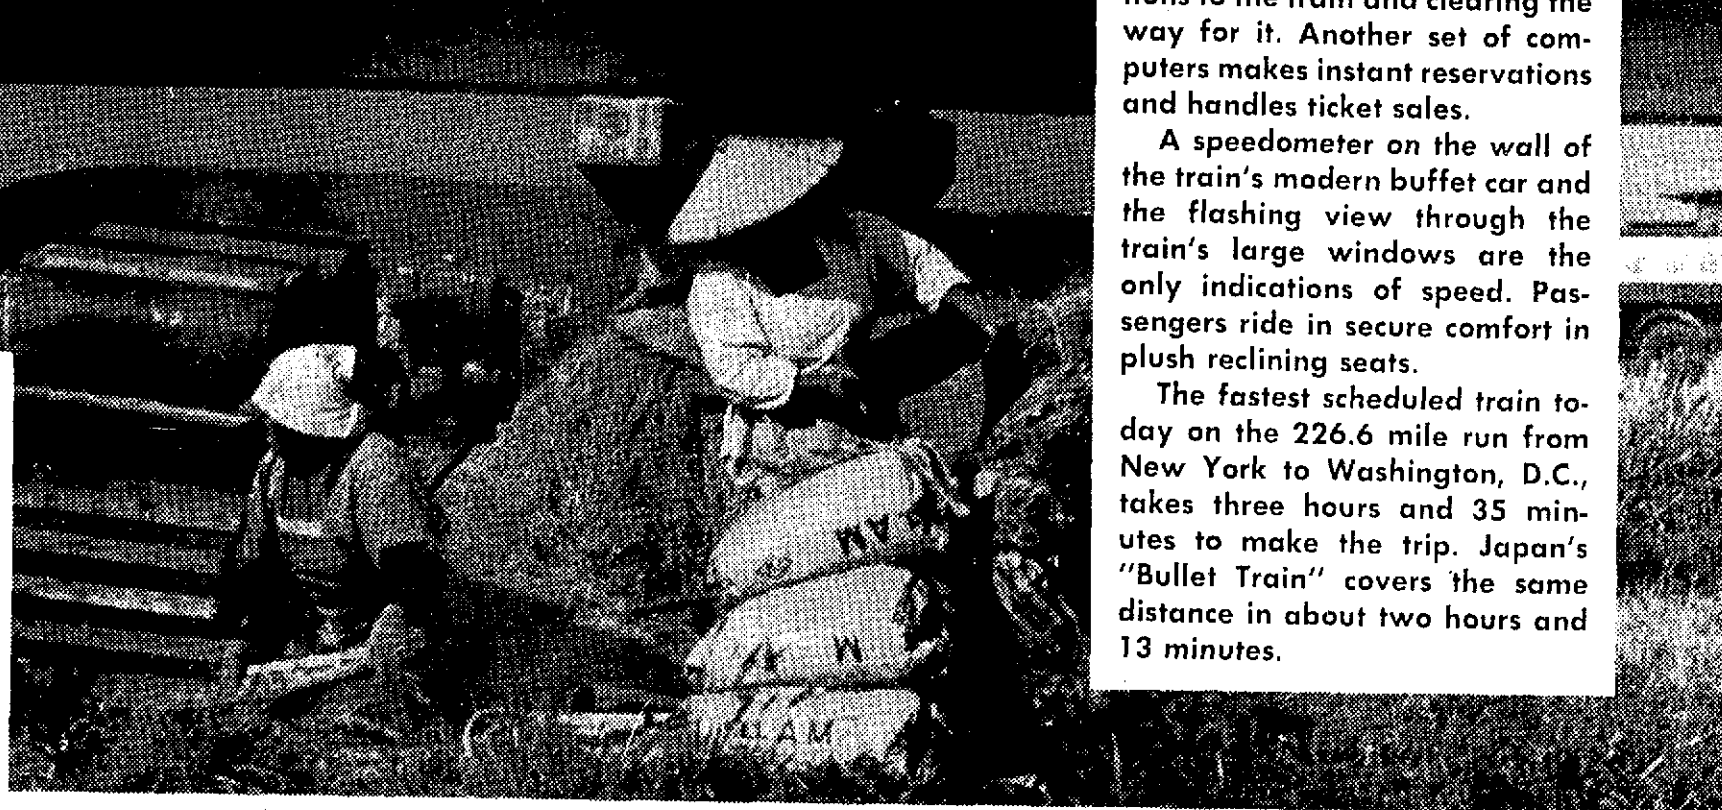

A system of computers backs up the train's operation from a central train control room in Tokyo station, signalling directions to the train and clearing the way for it. Another set of computers makes instant reservations and handles ticket sales.

A speedometer on the wall of the train's modern buffet car and the flashing view through the train's large windows are the only indications of speed. Passengers ride in secure comfort in plush reclining seats.

The fastest scheduled train today on the 226.6 mile run from New York to Washington, D.C., takes three hours and 35 minutes to make the trip. Japan's "Bullet Train" covers the same distance in about two hours and 13 minutes.

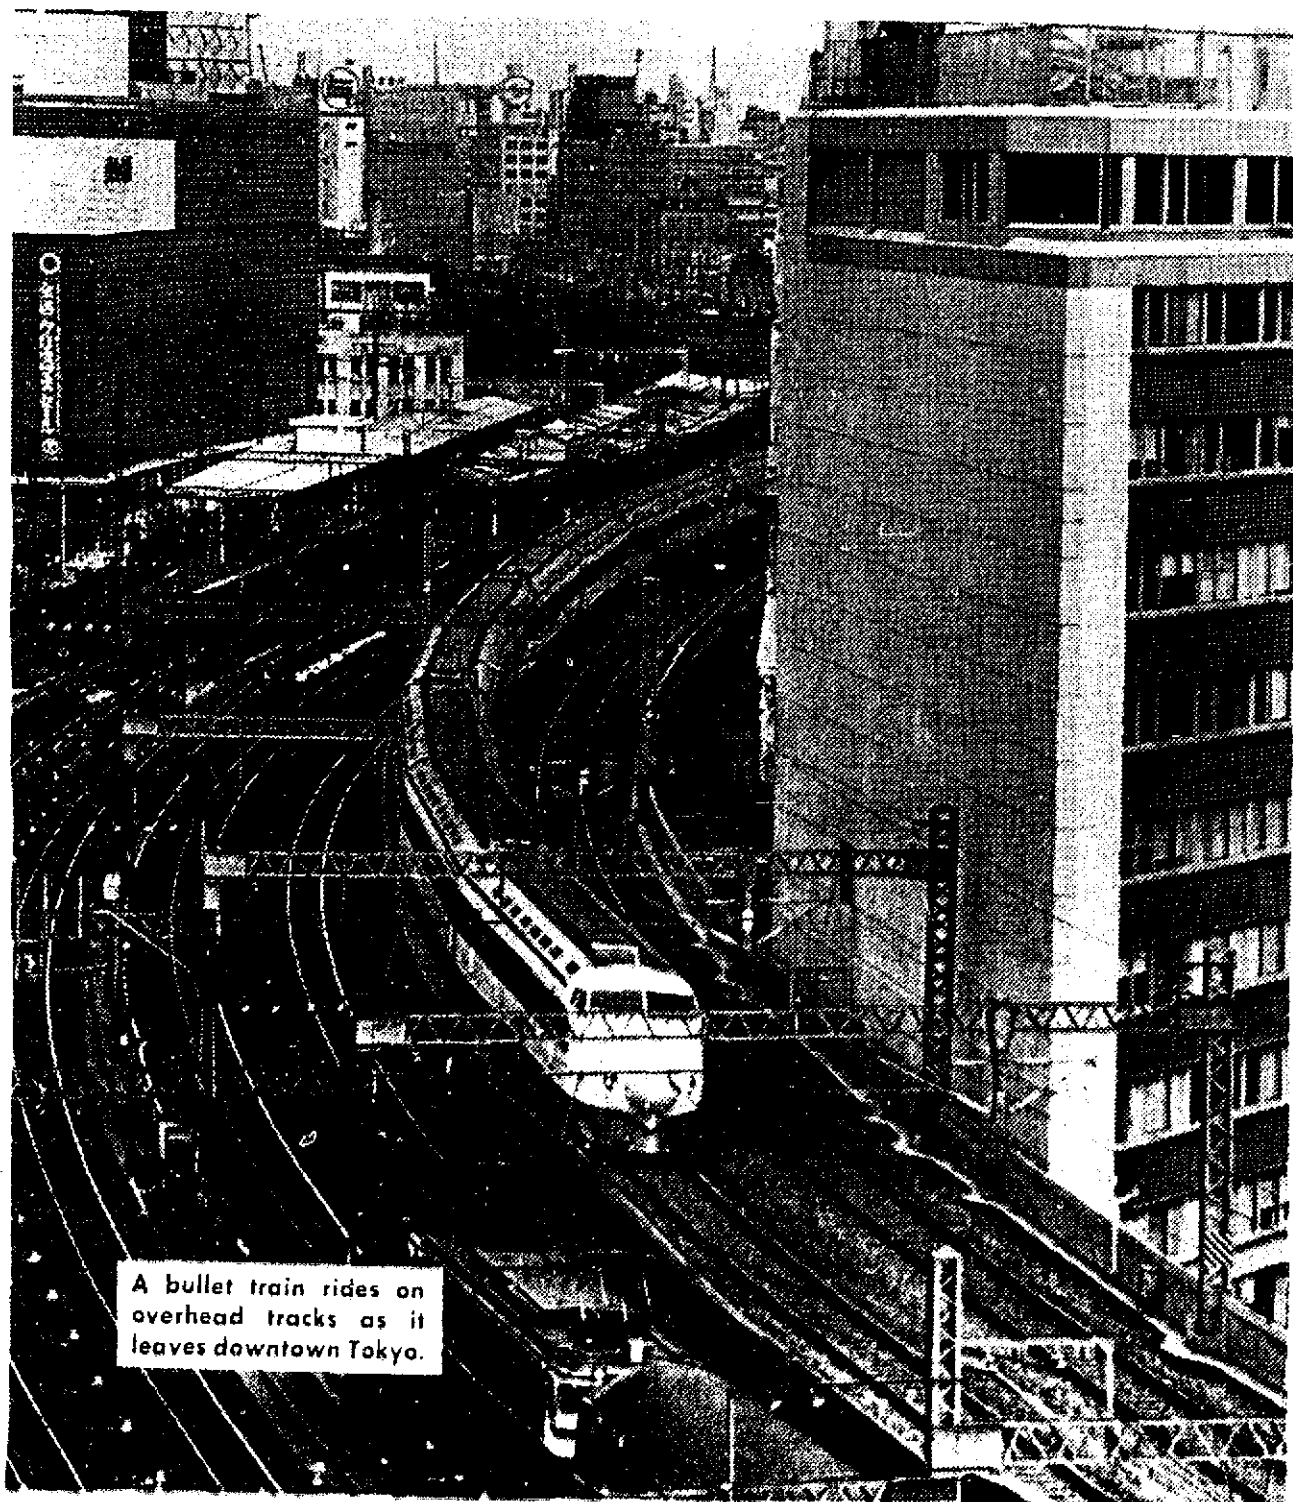

Engineer sits at the control panel in the cab of a "bullet train."

Americanism

Liberty, as proclaimed by law and constitutions, can never have full meaning without the added ingredients of Fraternity and Brotherhood; without the spirit of friendliness and unselfishness... love for one's fellows. Those powerful qualifying attributes help spell out what Americanism is.

When one sees a family unit, parents and children, with Bibles in hand, attending church to worship as they please... then one is witnessing Liberty in its finest and most fullsome forms, for that, too, is American. Freedom of religious worship is equally important, along with economic freedom and freedom from oppression, in America. Then worship God as you please but be sure to worship... that is Americanism.

Q—Of what commercial value is the wood of the Joshua tree?

A—It is so light and tough it is used for artificial limbs.

Evidence Was a Lot of Rubbish

LONDON (AP) — Sidney Thompson is short, bald, and a garbage collector.

This combination of circumstances led him to the high court Tuesday claiming damages from the town council in Dagenham, an East London suburb.

He explained that being small, his head came only level with the back of the garbage truck. And being bald, he had no protection when garbage fell from the truck on to his head.

Thompson said the falling garbage caused a rash on his pate and he was no longer able to work. He said the council should have given him a cap.

Judge Jocelyn Philimore dismissed the complaint, commenting: "not to mind words, much of the evidence was rubbish."

Have patience with all things, but chiefly have patience with yourself. Do not lose courage in considering your own imperfections, but instantly set about remedying them—every day begin the task anew.—Saint Francis de Sales.

Weak Two Bid Fails Strongly

By JACOBY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

West's weak two spades didn't bother North in the slightest. He had a perfect hand for a takeout double. East saw that the heart suit was wide open against him and jumped to four spades as an attempt to crowd the bidding.

The four spade call did crowd the bidding but South refused to be shut out and tried five hearts. West passed. When you open a weak two bid you don't plan to rebid when your partner jumps to game.

This gave North a tough problem. Just how good was his partner's five heart bid? Finally, North solved his problem by bidding six.

East passed. He thought he might have defense and South was left to play at six hearts.

The hand appears to be doomed to defeat from the start, but strangely enough South had no trouble making it by means of a complicated squeeze play.

West opened the ace of spades and shifted to a trump. South won in his hand; ruffed his last spade in dummy and ran off four trumps. He discarded two clubs from dummy so that dummy was left with the ace king of clubs and four diamonds.

East had to discard down to six cards also. He realized that he had to hang on to all four diamonds so that meant he had to let two clubs go. Now South cashed dummy's ace and king of clubs and ace and king of diamonds. Then he ruffed a diamond and made the final trick with his eight of clubs.

It was quite a slam to bid and to make. Without the impetus of the weak two bid and the jump raise by East, it is doubtful indeed that North and South would have bid it so this time the weak two must be charged with a conspicuous failure.

★-CARD Sense★

Q—The bidding has been:
West North East South
2 ♠ 4 ♠ 4 ♠ 5 ♠
Pass 6 ♠ Pass 3 ♠
Pass 4 ♠ Pass

You, South, hold:

♠ K 10 7 6 ♥ A 3 ♦ Q 10 5 4 ♣ 8 6 2

What do you do now?

A—Bid four hearts. Your heart bid will show the ace so that if your partner is actually trying for a slam he may move along. Otherwise he will simply go to four spades.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding has gone one spade, double by your partner, pass. You hold:

♠ 5 4 ♥ K J 5 4 ♦ Q 10 6 5 4 ♣ 5 2

What do you do?

Spring Is Here Again for Two Veterans and Six New Managers

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

Baseball must be right around the corner because the fellows making the winter banquets are talking about the kind of money they hope to earn for playing a game that will keep them out of trouble from March until October.

The dinner belt is the forerunner of spring training which is a place in Florida, California or Arizona where some athletes say "I'm reporting early so I can get in shape."

Actually, many who report ahead of the usual March 1 starting date do so to get in some fishing and golf. Most of the managers golf, too. So that keeps everybody happy.

Among those reporting early are two of baseball's most famous pitchers. They may never see action again in a major league game but Warren Spahn and Robin Roberts won't take "no" for an answer.

Spahn was cut adrift by the San Francisco Giants last fall but at 45 he's going to see if he can make the team again. Spahn has had 13 seasons of 20 or more victories and he can't believe he's finished.

Spahn had a 7-16 record last year with the Mets and Giants. His control was as good as ever. He gave up 27 homers in 198 innings. Amazing, however, is the fact that he completed 8 of 30 starts. If Spahn sticks he may have to become a bullpen specialist.

Roberts, who like Spahn is Hall of Fame material five years after retirement, had six straight 20-game seasons with the Phillies. He's 39 and worked a total of 191 innings in 1965.

His 10-9 record was pretty good for a fellow the 1962 Yankees wrote off as "finished."

Roberts completed 8 of his 25 starts last year. If he misses with the Astros he has been promised a coaching job with Houston.

Mickey Mantle is another who is being placed in the comeback class by many because of his recurring leg troubles. The Yankees want Mick for as many as 100 games and even if he can't play regularly they still want him. Mick is still disgusted over his 1965 showing. He reached a low mark, hitting only .255 with 19 homers. It was his first year under .300 since his .275 of 1959.

For the first time in major league history, 16 teams will train in one state. That's the number headed for Florida camps. The list was increased with the return of the Boston Red Sox who are moving from Scottsdale, Ariz., to Winter Haven, Fla. Arizona has also lost the Chicago Cubs who will set up camp in Long Beach, Calif.

The musical chair game has reached the managers, too. Six teams will start out with new managers this spring. Three of them — Wes Westrum of the New York Mets, Don Heffner of the Cincinnati Reds and Grady Hatton of the Houston Astros — will be running big league spring camps for the first time.

For three others the spring means somewhat of a comeback. Leo Durocher has the Chicago Cub reins. Although Frankie Frisch has jokingly accused Leo of managing while telecasting, Lippy last ran a club in 1955. That was when the Giants replaced him in New York with Bill Rigney.

Alvin Dark and Eddie Stanky, two Durocher disciples, are returning to the front lines. Dark, let out by the San Francisco Giants after '64, returns as manager of the Kansas City Athletics. It will be his first effort in the American League.

Stanky, who was replaced with Harry Walker by the St. Louis Cardinals in 1955, is coming back with the Chicago White Sox. It is his second look at the American League.

In 1957 he coached with the Cleveland Indians under Kirby Farrell. Stanky might have the best job of the comeback pilots because the White Sox figure as strong contenders against the defending champion Minnesota Twins.

All teams have mailed contracts to some 800 major league roster men. Club owners just sit back to see what happens on the banquet circuit. That's where the athletes do their best wailing for more money.

Little Mo's Two Girls, 8 and 7, Are Passing Up Mother's Racquet

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

Little Mo they called her and you'd have to say she was the greatest woman tennis player since Helen Wills won her eighth national championship in 10 years almost 35 years ago.

One thing is certain about the 5-foot-4 Maureen Connolly. She was the youngest big time champion in any sport to have her career cut short at age 20. It took a horse and a truck to do it.

When Little Mo beat Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, 6-3, 1-6, 6-4, for the women's National title at Forest Hills in 1951 she was only 16. She was the youngest in 47 years to win one of the world's two most important tennis crowns.

She won the next two years, too, and might have duplicated Helen Jacobs' 1935 feat of four straight but for an accident in the summer of 1954. Maureen loved to ride horses and it proved her undoing.

Her horse shied and her right foot got jammed between the horse and the rear of a truck. She won a $110,000 settlement and retained about one-third of it after attorney and court costs. In 1955 she tried a comeback but couldn't perform at her best.

"I never regretted quitting competition," says Maureen Connolly Brinker, wife of Dallas restaurateur Norman Brinker, a former U.S. Equestrian team member. "For the last few years I've been on summer tennis clinics for about six weeks."

"Already I'm looking forward to next summer when I can take Cindy, 8½, and Brenda, 7 (her two daughters) along. We'll go to the Pacific Northwest, the midwest around St. Louis, where I've never been, and to Washington, D.C."

"It will be an education for them. I know it was for me that first year when mother went to Wimbledon with me."

Needless to say Little Mo took the English tennis fanatics by storm. She won her first of three Wimbledon crowns in 1952 at 17.

"No, the girls aren't following mother," says Maureen. "Cindy showed a little tennis interest but she's going in more for baller. And Brenda loves to ride her polo pony."

"As to my injury, I still get cramps in my right foot. I found it impossible to go at top speed in a match, but in clinics I have no trouble. There are no quick stops and starts and it's great working with youngsters on municipal courts. The upsurge in tennis is so tremendous, too."

Maureen is 31 now and it was 21 years ago that she got her tennis start in her native San Diego.

"We lived two doors from tennis courts and at 10 I was accepted as a tom boy," Little Mo recalls. "I shagged balls for two good male players. One day the public park pro, Wilbur Folsom, put a racquet in my hands and that was it. He got me started."

"About four months later I said:

"Mom, I need a racquet. She almost collapsed at the thought of tennis because she was a pianist — a great one in Montana. I might add. Well, she got me a second hand racquet for $1.00."

"I played in a match for girls 13 and under and lost, 4-0, 6-2. I cried, and cried, and cried. Coach Folsom did the best thing. He offered no sympathy. He said:

"Get out there and start working." Right after that I went on some kind of a streak."

"Did she mind being called Little Mo?"

"I loved it," says Mrs. Maureen Brinker. "Nelson Fister of the San Diego Union once wrote that I was one of the sports writers loved it and became my friends, even later on when I covered sports for the San Diego paper."

"For that's how I met her. I wrote about her in the 1952 equestrian trials."

SPRING IS ALMOST HERE: This is the time of year when some 800 roster players begin thinking about that trip to baseball's major league spring training camps. Sixteen teams, a new high, will train in Florida while two will make camp in California and two in Arizona. The latter state has lost one team — the Boston Red Sox — to Florida and another team — the Chicago Cubs — to California.

Hooper Comes Up With Another Standout Jockey from Panama

Baseball Men Are Freightmen

NEW YORK (AP) — "Why athletes?" asked former basketball star Max Zaslofsky, repeating someone else's question. "Because they know how to meet people."

Zaslofsky, former St. John's athlete who played 10 years of pro basketball, is director of management trainees for a freight firm operated by Arthur Brown, noted harness horse owner. "It's a long winter for baseball players," says Zaslofsky, "but we've got athletes from other sports, too."

Baseball players under Zas are Henry Aaron, Jack Fisher, Earl Wilson, Bob Rodgers, Gene Freese, Bob Humphries and Lee Stang, plus Pittsburgh Pirate coach Hal Smith.

JORGE VELASQUEZ

Intelligent and ambitious young-student.

"He always had something interesting to say about the horses he worked," says Bardaro. "I had to be through an interpreter, of course, but Velasquez speaks every spare minute learning English. Bardaro, in fact, has told his Spanish-speaking stable help not to speak to Velasquez in Spanish to speed up his understanding of English."

The son of a Panama cattle dealer, Velasquez is one of seven children. He's the only jockey in the family, and he started his career at 15.

A veteran of 1,100 mounts in Panama and Peru, he has developed an excellent sense of timing, and knows how to get a horse out of a gate quickly. Bardaro discovered during the boy's orientation period that Velasquez knew how to follow riders.

"I told him to work a horse in such-and-such a time," says the trainer. "And he'd do it to the second. I can't begin to tell you how good a rider he is."

His rivals are finding out.

RETURNS TO SCENE: Now Mrs. Maureen Connolly Brinker of Dallas, the three-time women's National tennis queen, is looking forward to a summer of clinics. She will take her two daughters, Cindy, 8½, and Brenda, 7, along. But Little Mo says they show little interest in the sport which made mother famous.

Golfing Toskis Disprove Theory That Height-Weight Get Distance

SIZE IS UNIMPORTANT: You don't have to be a giant to hit a golf ball a good distance, as the four Toski brothers have demonstrated over the years. They are, left to right, Jack, Ben, Bob and Tom. Nana goes beyond 5-foot-8 or 160 pounds. They all caddied around Northampton, Mass., years ago and all are golf professionals.

By FRANK ECK

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Name a sport and you'll find a brother act. Baseball has its Boyer brothers, football has the Gogolaks and the PGA golf tour has the Heberts.

The PGA also has the four Toski brothers, Bob, Ben, Jack and Tom. What makes them unique is that each makes his living in golf, not as tour players but as teachers. They all began as caddies at Northampton, Mass.

And none of the brothers knows what it is to weigh 160 pounds. A good stiff breeze at Pebble beach might blow them into the Pacific. Yet each hits a golf ball a fair stretch of fairway.

"My theory of teaching," says Ben Toski, 49, "goes along with the thinking of the late Ernest Jones, a great teacher whom I never had met."

"Most of a good golf shot is in the swing — absolutely. You can do a lot of things wrong but if you have the good sound swing you can offset many errors."

"I try to impress on people that the backswing should act like a spring. You don't have to worry about the wrist break or the pause at the top of the backswing. Just make believe the backswing and the downswing are partners in a spring."

At the swank Rolling Hills Golf and Country Club here where 150-pound Ben Toski teaches, pupils often say:

"There goes Little Ben, brother of Bob Toski, the Mighty Mouse."

"I don't mind," says Ben. "After all Bob is famous. He won $50,000 in 1954 in taking the world title at Chicago's Tom O'Shanter course. He went all over the world and gave 63 exhibitions that year as part of winning George S. May's event."

"Bob won three other tournaments that year, the Baton Rouge, Azalea and Eastern Opens. He's 39, 127 pounds and 5-foot-8. He's the pro at Key Largo and in the summer he's a TV golf commentator."

Just to get the record straight, brother Jack, 51, is a Massachusetts driving range operator, and Tom 40, is pro at Waconah in Dalton, Mass.

Ben was teaching at Tom's club last summer when he won the Berkshire County championship in 13 shots. In recent years he has been third in the New Jersey Open and PGA events.

Ben once shot a 61 at Cedar Hill, Livingston, N.J., and holds six course records from New England to Miami.

Golf runs deeper than brotherly love with Ben Toski. He taught the game to his daughter Joan, now Mrs. Mike Burke, wife of the Deal, N.J., Country Club pro. Ben also indoctrinated Mike, 28, in the business end of running a golf shop.

In 1961, Joan was runnerup for the New Jersey women's title. She lost 1 up on the 36th hole and cried.

But the tears turned to laughter when her father told her she should have been disqualified.

"You've been pregnant a couple of months," he said, "and I think you've been getting help on every shot."

Buckpasser, Graustark Have the Credentials

The days of Greentree Stable's Tom Fool and the unbeaten Italian wonder horse Ribot figure to be rehashed often this spring because everything is pointing toward a pair of brilliant 3-year-old colts called Buckpasser and Graustark.

These respective sons of Tom Fool and Ribot are at Hialeah's flamingo-decorated park, scene of the Florida thoroughbred action. Both are being pointed for the classic races — the Flamingo, Florida Derby, Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont.

Buckpasser is the son of Tom Fool — Buisanda, by War Admiral. Tom Fool was one of the greatest colts ever owned by publisher John Hay (Jack) Whitney and his sister, Mrs. Charles S. Payson, owner of the New York Mets and a lady who once tried to buy Horace Stoneham's Giants for something like $6 million.

Tom Fool was the greatest horse I ever rode, Ted Atkinson has often said, and he rode some big winners.

Graustark, you might say, is more of a Johnny-come-lately because bucked shins prevented him from racing more than three times last year, his juvenile season. But he won his three races by a total of 22 lengths. And in his first asking as a 3-year-old he won at Hialeah by 5 lengths, equaling the six-furlong 1:10 3/5 time of recent stakes winner Time Tested, a 4-year-old.

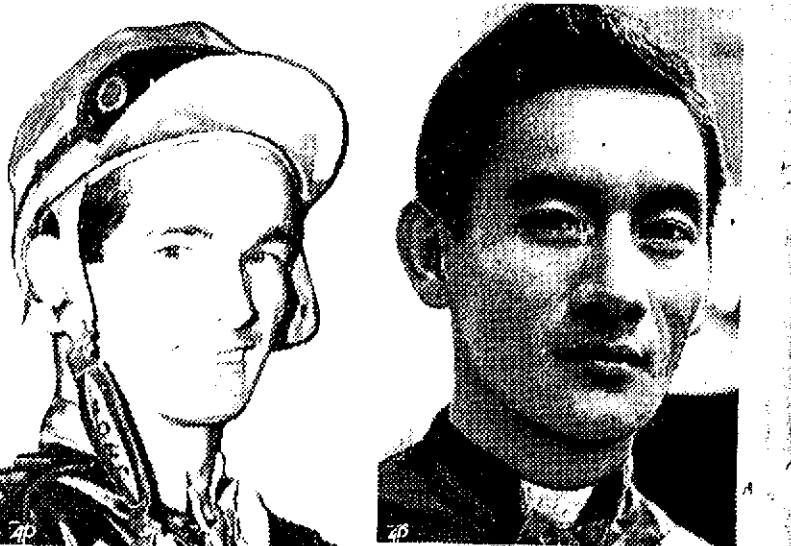

Graustark is owned by John W. Galbreath, realtor who owns the Pittsburgh Pirates and has Dan Farn in Columbus, Ohio and Lexington, Ky. He won the Kentucky Derby with Chateaugay in 1963 when few thought he would because the son of Swaps-banquet Bell returned $20.80 for $2 as fifth choice.

More important, even to Galbreath, is the breeding behind Graustark. This fine looking chestnut is the son of Ribot and Flower Bowl.

Galbreath got together a $2 million syndicate to bring Ribot to the United States from Italy as a stallion. Right now Galbreath's faith in the Italian sire is being repaid. And Flower Bowl is the dam of Bowl of

HEIST MAKES IT
HOUSTON (AP) — Al Heist, 38, has made it with the Houston Astros after all.

In 1962 the Houston Astros spent $75,000 to get Heist from the Chicago Cubs in the major league expansion draft. It looked like he would become Houston's center fielder. But he never played a game in spring training and was fully recovered.

He played only 27 games last year and for the next three years was a player-coach and manager at Oklahoma City. Heist now manages the Astros and Heist is one of the best.

Besides five tests with the Red Birds, the Mets have 10 more here with other major league teams.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Twins won the American League pennant last year with 102 victories against 60 defeats. That's the record of the 15 pitchers they are taking to spring camp at Orlando, Fla.

Usually one or two pitchers, even on pennant winners, are traded but the Twins have on their roster every Twin who won a lot of games with them in 1965.

Groundbreaking Ceremonies at Red River Technical School

GOVERNOR ORVAL FAUBUS TURNED THE FIRST shovel of dirt yesterday in groundbreaking ceremonies for the Red River Vocational Technical School near Hope City limits south on Highway 29.

102 Gas Pumps Are Rejected

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Weights and Measures Division rejected 102 of 728 motor fuel pumps inspected in December, the state Plant Board said Thursday.

Inspectors ordered 7,122 pre-packaged commodities taken off sale after checking 106,491 packages. They also rejected 74 of 525 small scales checked in retail stores.

Ohio Firm Has Option on Land Near Millwood

Gov. Orval Faubus announced here Friday night that the Champion Paper Company of Hamilton, Ohio has taken option on land near the confluence of Little and Red Rivers between Fulton and McNab (in Hempstead County) for the construction of a $50 million paper mill.

Faubus made the announcement at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet held in the Hope Livestock Coliseum.

Roy J. Saun, president of the Champion Paper Corporation, said in a communique that they have the landowners' permission to buy the necessary land for construction.

Brown and Root Engineering Company of Houston, Tex., reported that the construction of Millwood Dam and Reservoir in this area afforded an excellent water supply necessary in operating a large facility of this type, the Governor said.

The plentiful supply of water and timber is probably indicative of other mills locating in this area in the future, Faubus said.

The Governor said that due to the efforts of a large number of Southwest Arkansas citizens, he felt that the deal was closed, but he urged local leaders "to get the bag tied up right away."

The Arkansas Industrial Development Commission played a key role in preliminary plans for location of the mill.

Faubus spoke to 430 area residents including various out-of-town dignitaries in the recently renovated livestock coliseum. He praised the progress in Hempstead County and the efforts of area leaders. "This coliseum is almost as big as my house at Huntsville," he said.

He commended the "fine legislative ability" of the General Assembly which sponsored legislation for such improvements as the coliseum and others being made throughout the state.

Friday afternoon, the Governor broke ground for the Red River Vocational Technical School which will be constructed south of Hope on State Highway 29.

In his dedication speech, Faubus said that the school would enable persons without special skills to learn a trade that would allow them to enjoy better job opportunities and a better way of life. The trade schools throughout Arkansas will be a tremendous boost to economy and will help lure new industries, the Governor said.

"The area with the most trained people will get the most industries," he said. Numerous state and local officials were present for the ground-breaking ceremony including Secretary of State Kelly Bryant, State Senators Olen Hendrix of Prescott, and Bob Douglas of Texarkana. Also present were county judges from neighboring counties, various state representatives, a number of congressional candidates including Texarkana attorney Richard S. Arnold, truck stop operator Dean Murphy, and State Rep. David Burleson of Fayetteville, Ark.

"I will be criticized," Faubus said, "for making available more funds for improving the coliseum, like the press did when I gave money to the Horse Show Assn., and when I extended the license deadline during the bad weather."

He also took a good-natured poke at gubernatorial candidate Winthrop Rockefeller. Surveying the site for the new industrial school, Faubus quipped: "If my house at Huntsville was as big as Rockefeller's school out of it."

Everyone Is Dissatisfied With Air War

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both the hawks and doves probably were dissatisfied with the way the air war against North Vietnam was restarted.

The hawks wanted to raise the level of the targets — to hit industrial, power, port, petroleum supplies and other Communist resources, including those around Hanoi and Haiphong, North Viet Nam's capital and chief port.

The doves wanted the bombing pause continued longer, perhaps indefinitely.

The first bombing strikes after a 37-day break for the peace offensive involved roughly the same order of targets and the same areas that were hit when the air war in the North began just short of a year ago.

The targets were bridges, warehouses, truck traffic and the like.

The area struck in the first post-pause attacks was far south of Hanoi, relatively near the boundary splitting Viet Nam into its Communist and non-Communist halves.

The proponents of escalation claim these objectives were hit repeatedly before the pause — and that the infiltration actually grew rather than diminished.

President Johnson indicated strongly Monday that bombing operations in the North will remain under tight control from the White House.

But by no means did Johnson foreclose the possibility that the United States may find it necessary to escalate the war by slamming targets which so far have been only nicked, or not struck at all.

There's a broad body of opinion in the military and in Congress which holds there is little sense in returning to the air war at the old stand.

Egg Marketing Co-op Planned

DAHLONEGA, Ga. (AP) — The chairman of a committee of egg producers says southeastern producers are studying the prospects of forming a co-operative to market egg in nine states, including Arkansas.

Bill Owens of Dahlonega said the proposal has been approved by the Georgia Egg Association and is being considered by producers in the other eight states.

He said the cooperative has no plans to take physical control of the wholesale egg market, but would try to stabilize the wholesale market of eggs.

Pre-Revolutionary War Relic Beautiful Hand-Embroidered Shawl, Tells Its Own Story

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

If objects could speak, What stories we'd hear Of people they'd known With a joy or a tear Of places they'd been Both far and near. If objects could speak, We'd surely "give ear,"

But what's this? Do you recognize the sound of a voice actually coming from this beautiful hand-embroidered shawl with a deep fringed edge? Its owner, Mrs. Ada Jackson Burton of Magnolia, is signaling for quiet because under just the right conditions (weather-wise and otherwise) certain human beings are able to hear this pre-revolutionary war relic of the Burton family tell its own life story.

"Just a home-spun and hand-woven silk shawl, sun and woven in Northern Scotland by Miss Francis Monteith—a Highland Scotch lady who in 1765 came to America where she met and married Mr. Jackson J. Burton in 1768. They lived a while in the state of Pennsylvania, then later settled a home in Virginia. During these years of her early married life she finished me (the shawl) with lovely embroidery and knotted fringe, and I was worn by her over beautiful silk dresses with hoop skirts and bustles to many lovely ball and receptions."

"I was not worn with age nor wrinkled with care in those days, and I even went to the great ball — General George Washington's Inaugural Ball. In case you've forgotten, that was after he was made the first President of the United States following the Declaration of Independence in 1776. Like all who were there I had a wonderful time at the party. It will always remain as my night of nights."

"And now for my descent through my family generations. In 1816 my maker passed to her reward and left me to her daughter, Miss Jane Burton (Ferguson), who wore me to social affairs quite often. Then, in 1851 I was given to her daughter, Mrs. Martha Virginia (Burton) Keith, who was very careful of me, wearing me only to her very nicest affairs and seldom at all because of my age."

"Finally, in 1925 I went to her daughter, Mrs. Ada Jackson (Burton) Martin, in whose care I am fully retired as a beautiful old relic of lovely times past. Once in a while I make a protective covering, as I did recently to Hope, Arkansas to see Mr. and Mrs. George Keith. They took good care of me and introduced me to some of their friends. One of them said a newspaper might be interested in my story. That's why you are reading it now."

Bids Taken

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — E. E. Armbrust of North Little Rock submitted the apparent low bids to remodel offices in the state capital and replace rains and pipes in the capitol basement, Secretary of State Kelly Bryant said Thursday. Bryant said Armbrust bid $69,910 for the remodeling job and $31,817 for the drains and pipes work.

Bobcats Fly by Camden in Dist. Game

By LARRY DON WRIGHT
Hope Star Sports Writer

The Hope Bobcats flew past the Camden Panthers, 80-50, for an easy but impressive District 4AA victory last night at Camden.

The win boosted Hope's conference record to four wins and three losses as the Cats begin the second round robin of play tonight in Jones Field House. The opponents will be a rougher bunch of Camden, better known as the Fairview Cardinals.

Taking the lead for good midway into the first period, the Bobcats really poured it on through the entire first half and until late in the third quarter when the subs came in. They were more accurate in their shooting than they've been all season and their defensive play felt right into form, also.

At halftime the Hope cagers had scored on 63 per cent of their shots from the field and led by a substantial margin of 55-30. Also at this point Bobcat head gunner Ronnie Ingram had already racked for 21 points, an outstanding effort in anybody's book.

The exceptional performance by Hope the first two quarters caused speculation among many Hope followers during halftime of a possible 100-point game. Although this was within reach the pace was wisely lessened before the final period by a complete five man substitution on the part of the Cats.

It's never been the policy of the Bobcats to run the score up and there was really no reason to start now.

Hope's last starter left the game with 2:12 remaining in the third quarter at which point the Cats had exactly doubled the score of their opponents, 72-36.

The second team did rather well themselves. Although they didn't do a lot of scoring they were able to hold Camden to a mere 12 points through the entire fourth quarter.

Eight of Hope's ten man traveling squad scored. Led by Ingram who left the game with a total of 27 points the Bobcat scoring was distributed as follows: Dennis Ramsey 20, David Griffin 13, Stan Parris 8, Bobby McGill 4, Eddie Aslin 4, Stan Reyesga 2, and Don McAdams 2.

Tonight's game with Fairview should prove to be a much closer contest than last night's judging from previous records this season.

The Bobcats and the Cardinals have already met on three other occasions this season. They met first in the Ouachita Tournament in Arkadelphia with Fairview coming out the victor, 61-47. However the game was closer than the score indicates.

Then in the second meeting Hope ousted the Cardinals in the semi-finals of the Southern State Tourney, 50 to 41. The other battle was in conference play. Fairview took that one 64-59, in the last minute of play.

So the stage is set again for yet another showdown. Both teams are making strong bids for the district championship in the closely matched Region 4AA, and a win tonight would bring either team that much closer to the goal.

In the preliminary game last night the Bobkittens dropped seventh conference decision in as many outings, this time to the Jr. High Panthers by a score of 43-27.

Out sized as usual the Kittens could never get going, although they have improved notably since earlier season play.

Ricky Putman took team honors for the locals with 8 points. He was followed by teammates Jimmie Singleton with 6, Ronnie Jones with 4, Ronnie Brown with 3 and Terry Turner with 2.

The Jr. High game begins tonight at 6:30 p.m. to be followed immediately by the Bobcat game.

Improve Tax Withholding Plan Studied

By EDMOND LE BRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — As

every income taxpayer knows, withholding is never perfect.

In many cases there is a refund due from the government, or, unhappily, something owed the government after the annual return has been sweated out.

A major effort is now on in Congress to improve the system, which has been getting more and more out of kilter with the passing years, because withholding is based on lower-bracket tax rates and incomes in this country keep going up. In 1964, for example, most U.S. families had incomes above $6,500 — and the median has gone up since.

If the slice taken out of everybody's paycheck is based on minimum bracket rates and more and more wage earners move up into higher brackets, there is bound to be trouble. This has been the situation.

Moreover, the tax changes of the past two years have cranked more complications into the system. Since the income tax reduction was staged over two years there had to be a special withholding computation for the first year. It turned out to be a bit low and, last year, many taxpayers who thought their liability had to dig into their pockets to make up a difference.

Moreover, a new minimum standard deduction benefiting lowest-income taxpayers was instituted. But this change was not reflected in the withholding tables.

Working through his fellow members of the House Judiciary Committee he finally persuaded Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., an unyielding opponent of the amendment, to hold hearings. Nearly 50 members appeared to sing the praises of longer terms, none in opposition.

Celler couldn't find anyone who would testify against it and he was finally forced to move the amendment to the top of the committee calendar, ready for almost certain approval at the start of this session. Then the President spoke out.

Celler has no lack of members and outside witnesses who now want to testify against the amendment and he is preparing to renew the hearings.

The awakened interest in the four-year term has caused members who thought they favored it to look more closely at what is at stake. Some are having second thoughts.

They don't like Johnson's proposal that the four-year term coincide with the President's, fearing loss of independence to the executive branch. With a Democrat in power Republicans are particularly opposed to this feature.

Didn't Help Cause for Long Terms

By JOHN BECKLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson may not have helped the cause of longer terms for House members by urging it so strongly.

A determined backstage effort to extend the present two-year terms to four years was nearing success in the House without much interest being shown in it until Johnson spoke out.

But ever since he plugged the four-year term in his State of the Union address on Jan. 12, the issue has been caught in the glare of controversy and its fate is now in doubt.

To win congressional approval, the proposed amendment must win passage in both the House and Senate by at least a two-thirds favorable vote — not just a simple majority. Then three-fourths of the state legislatures — 38 — would have to ratify it for the proposal to become law.

For the first time, mail is coming to Congress on the subject, much of it opposing the longer terms. Newspapers and magazines are taking editorial stands. Voters are discussing it.

All this was much different last year when Rep. Frank Chelf, D-Ky., was quietly, but effectively lining up support for a four-year-term constitutional amendment.

By his own count Chelf wrote more than 8,000 letters to his 534 colleagues in the House and Senate with arguments in support of longer terms. He talked about it at every opportunity, got dozens to introduce amendments.

Working through his fellow members of the House Judiciary Committee he finally persuaded Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., an unyielding opponent of the amendment, to hold hearings. Nearly 50 members appeared to sing the praises of longer terms, none in opposition.

Celler couldn't find anyone who would testify against it and he was finally forced to move the amendment to the top of the committee calendar, ready for almost certain approval at the start of this session. Then the President spoke out.

Rockefeller No. 3 Now in Politics

By STRATTON L. DOUTHAT
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) —

Another Rockefeller has entered politics — but in West Virginia of all places, and as a Democrat, of all things.

He is John D. (Jay) Rockefeller IV, great grandson of the empire builder and member of one of the nation's best-known Republican families. Jay, whose Uncle Nelson is Republican governor of New York and whose Uncle Winthrop is a GOP gubernatorial candidate in Arkansas, filed Monday for a seat in the West Virginia House of Delegates.

Now 28, he was a registered Republican for five years. "The decision in itself was not difficult," he said. "But you just don't walk out on that much tradition without a lot of thought."

Jay said he went to Arkansas to talk with Winthrop and recently met with Nelson in New York. "I received their support," he said, "because it's important to them that I do what makes sense for me as a person."

He arrived in West Virginia in July 1964, and has been a neighborhood social worker in the Action for Appalachian Youth Program. Most of the past 18 months he has spent at nearby Emmons working with people he says never had a chance.

"If anything," he said, "my candidacy grows out of my work here. Political decisions affect people so immediately and so forcefully that the legislative level seemed a natural followup to anyone trying to solve problems common to an area like Emmons."

He explained his political switch this way: "When I registered as a Republican five years ago, I had just gotten back from 18 months of study in Japan and my uncle was seeking the presidential nomination."

"I feel very deeply about my family. Historically, ours is a name that has been associated with Republicanism. But an even stronger family tradition has been the proposition that which best reflects you as an individual is that which brings out the best in you."

"Politics is a lifetime commitment and honesty to self is essential. To have remained a Republican would have been to subordinate my own conclusions and instincts to an undefined feeling of what others think I should be."

The tall, handsome Ivy League bachelor is the son of John D. Rockefeller III of New York chairman of the board of trustees of the Rockefeller Foundation. He recently moved into his own house in Charleston and says he plans to stay in West Virginia permanently.

"This is my home now," he said.
